

Book Asara Lovejoy for Your Event

Asara Lovejoy, author of The One Command published by Berkley Trade Press division of Penguin Group (USA) Inc. reveals your greatest success tool right within you, your rich theta mind!

Lecture Series

In The One Command, Lovejoy introduces a completely unique approach to accessing innate human intelligence by 'command' in Theta mind state. In her 1 to 3 hour presentations Asara covers the fundamentals behind the science of making change at the neurological, biological, and cellular level for a better life while in theta through 6-easy steps. Negativity and stress are immediately reduced or eliminated entirely by responding to any fearful thought or perception of lack that arises.

Lovejoy explains why it is possible to instill confidence, get the results you want and to become self-empowered rather than live life based on lack, fear, struggle from this advanced information. She shares her personal story of being down and out and almost losing her home and the turn around in her finances and wellbeing she made through her discovery of The One Command process.

In the few years since Lovejoy has written the One Command Book she shares how she applied the One Command, going into theta and making a command for change every step of the way, in not only rebuilding her life, but also generating over two million dollars in revenue through her teachings, products and services. And Asara has a consistent message, she says, "If I can do it so can you."

Asara gives many examples of One Command successes and demonstrates the process with volunteers from the audience. She also leads the audience through exercises and processes that tune them into how they can access this portion of their intelligence on demand. The overwhelming praise and gratitude from those learning about The One Command and Asara Lovejoy is consistent with statements such as: You explain it so well, I never knew this was possible, Can it really be this easy, and Thank you so much.
